

Far North Queensland - Beach Bird Secrets

*Wednesday 18th November,
Mission Beach*

Everyone in Australia is searching for that mythical secret beach. Once you get to know FNQ's fantastic coastal birds though, you might soon realise that a secret beach no-one else can see, unfolds right in front of your eyes. BirdLife Australia's Threatened Bird Network is holding a workshop to let you in on these well kept secrets. The Far North QLD coast is rich in internationally recognised 'Important Bird and Biodiversity Areas' (IBAs) home to many breeding coastal birds and arctic visitors.

Little and Common Tern; Andrew Silcocks

This FREE whole-day workshop is for everyone interested in shorebirds and their protection. Beginners and families are welcome!

Beach-stone Curlew; Dean Ingwersen

The workshop includes:

- Presentations on the amazing adaptations of coastal birds
- Advice on conservation actions for beach-nesting birds
- A field trip to practice your newly learned coastal bird ID skills!
- Goodie bag with a starter kit to join our nationwide monitoring and conservation effort

For anyone who wants to become a new BirdLife Australia member, there will be an opportunity to sign up on the day and receive a free Bird Book!

WHEN

Wednesday 18th of November
9:30 am – 4:00 pm

WHERE

Theatrette of the C4
535 Porters Promenade, Mission Beach

WHAT TO BRING

Binoculars (if you have them), water bottle, sun-smart gear. Scopes will be on site.

Lunch and refreshments will be provided

PLEASE RSVP BY 16TH NOVEMBER:

Golo Maurer

E: golo.maurer@birdlife.org.au

P: 0467 444 114

Supported by the Ian Potter Foundation

